

The two SerialConnector classes will perform the communication between the two modules. They will be singletons. So there will be no chance for communication problems.

